Celebrating God's Power in Every Life Across the Atlantic Caribbean Union

The Atlantic Caribbean Union of Seventh-day Adventists (ATCU) will observe Adventist Possibility Ministries Day (APM) on Sabbath, April 18, 2026, along with the Adventist world church. This day will place intentional emphasis on recognizing the value, dignity, and spiritual gifts of every individual, particularly those often overlooked or marginalized within society.

Adventist Possibility Ministries exists to promote inclusive ministry for individuals who are deaf, blind, orphaned, widowed, or living with physical, emotional, or mental health challenges. Possibility Ministries Day reminds the church that ministry is not limited by ability or circumstance but empowered by God's grace and purpose working through human lives.

The 2026 theme will be highlighted through a sermon titled "The Blessings in Trials" that draws attention to how God's strength is revealed through adversity and how the church is called to walk compassionately with those who experience life's greatest challenges. Across the ATCU territory, churches are encouraged to dedicate this Sabbath to celebrating the capabilities of all individuals while recommitting to a ministry model that is welcoming, accessible, and affirming.

Possibility Ministries Day will be observed through special worship services, testimonies, focused prayer, and intentional acts of inclusion. Rather than a mere awareness moment, the day aims to shape attitudes and inspire long-term commitment to ministry among those living with disabilities or difficult life circumstances. It also provides an opportunity for congregations to reflect on how well their spaces, programs, and culture reflect Christ's inclusive love. In a region where faith and family are central to daily life, APM speaks directly to ATCU communities. It calls churches to move beyond sympathy to action and beyond accommodation to belonging. This observance invites members to see ministry not as something done for people, but with them, affirming that everyone has a role to play in the church's mission.

Nelda Drackett, ATCU Sabbath School director, emphasizes the day's spiritual significance: "Possibility Ministries Day reminds us that God does not measure people by their limitations, but by His purpose for their lives. In the Atlantic Caribbean Union, where community and compassion are deeply rooted values, this day calls us to see every person as capable of service, worthy of dignity, and essential to the mission of the church. Sabbath School teaches us to grow in Christ, and Possibility Ministries challenges us to live out what we learn by making room for everyone at the table."

Churches throughout the Atlantic Caribbean Union are encouraged to plan meaningful worship experiences and community-focused initiatives that reflect the spirit of APM. Leaders hope the day will inspire members to look beyond barriers, deepen empathy, and actively engage in ministry that uplifts those who face physical, emotional, or social challenges.

Possibility Ministries Day 2026 stands as a powerful reminder that the church is strongest when it embraces all of God's children and recognizes that through Christ, every life holds purpose, value, and possibility.
